A reexamination of [] photography from [] covering Camilo Cienfuegos Airfield, Cuba reveals the presence of one and possibly 2 other modified FISHBED C Aircraft. Canvas-covering on the remaining aircraft precludes a determination of the total number of modified aircraft.

The modified aircraft appear identical to FISHBED C aircraft with the exception of a modified vertical fin. The fin has been increased in area by the addition of a new section along the leading edge. The appearance is compatible with that of the fin on the FISHBED D and modified FISHBED C recently photographed []
